This renovation transformed a tired former kitchen and back door laundry area into a vibrant, modern backdrop for family and entertaining. A new unifying porcelain plank floor integrates the existing kitchen, mudroom and laundry spaces into one neutral palette. Layers of sleek, minimalist cabinetry and smooth stone countertops contrast the textured glass mosaic backsplash. The new stainless steel farm sink, open island cooktop with downdraft exhaust, and matching appliances create an “urban loft” vibe.

Adjacent to the kitchen, the former mudroom and laundry rooms were transformed into a multifunctional office, laundry, pantry and beverage center. Along with the team at Carol Kurth Architecture, PC + Carol Kurth Interiors, LTD, the team worked with Leicht in Mount Kisco, NY, to create the kitchen cabinetry and contractor Legacy Construction Northeast, LLC., of White Plains, NY.

As a nod to the age of the home, (it was built in 1924), and to keep its integrity, the team at Lee Ann Thornton Designs used lots of traditional, but still bright and cheerful, fabrics, and added a few antiques to tie it all together. “We decided to work with fabrics first. We understood from the very beginning that the colors and patterns were going to be very important,” says Interior Designer Lee Ann Thornton, who provided a hand-drawn furniture plan allowing the clients to see how they planned to fill the small rooms with seating.
